

BIG WAR COUNCIL CALLED BY KAISER

GERMANY HARD PRESSED ALONG FLEMISH LINES

Teutons Battling Desperately to Turn Back Offensive of Allies in Belgium

BERLIN BOASTS THAT IT HAS HELD THE ENTENTE

Weather Conditions Make It Impossible to Use Air Craft in Getting Range

CALLS WAR COUNCIL. Amsterdam, Aug. 2.—Emperor William has called a war council of the big military and naval leaders in Germany to meet at Brussels, Belgium, today. Field Marshal von Hindenburg, chief of the imperial general staff; General von Ludendorff, the quartermaster general, the German crown prince, commanding the German forces in the Champagne; Crown Prince Rupprecht of Bavaria, in command of the Belgian front; Grand Duke Albrecht of Wurttemberg, and others will be present.

Emperor William, according to an official statement today, telegraphed to Rupprecht of Bavaria his congratulations on the success of the great German army on July 31, whereby the vehement Anglo-French attack intended to counter the coast of Flanders, failed.

(By Associated Press.)

Germany is battling with a desperation probably unparalleled in the war to hold their lines in Flanders. Notwithstanding the heavy handicap which the weather has imposed, the entente forces have made good their most important gains, and apparently are only awaiting clearing conditions to blast their way further into the Teutonic front.

The boast of successful resistance to the entente thrusts that have come from Berlin were bared as usual on the unwarred assumption that an attempt had been made to break through and upon the fact that at one or two points the German reaction resulted in some of the far ad valorem forces of the allies being pushed back.

Today, however, comes the announcement from London that despite the bantering rainfall the British have completely re-established their lines in the neighborhood of the Roulers-Ypres railway as the outcome of a night attack.

Serious Handicap. Where there may be some inclination on the part of critics to regard with some misgivings stress laid upon the bad weather by the official report, military observers apparently are in entire agreement with the seriousness of this handicap.

The allies have established air superiority and the storm prevented observation, although enabling inactivity upon the big guns that are relied upon to blast a path for the advancing infantry. To the low visibility also has been attributed such success as the Germans were able to gain in the conquered parts, the poor sighting conditions preventing the entente gunners from massing their fire effectively.

Despite the hard fighting in Flanders, the Germans are continuing their pronounced activities on the French front. Paris reports two attacks on the French lines east and southeast of Rheims, and assaults in the Avescourt wood sector in the Verdun region and in the Armentières forest, southeast of St. Michael. All these were fruitless, for the Germans. Some important movement apparently is under way in the Russian northern front, which has been holding entirely firm while the southern end of the line was falling back.

The Russians are reported to have evacuated the Ustuk bridgehead, the Germans marching into the evacuated positions.

Save Your Magazines For the Soldier Boys

Citizens of Bismarck are urged to look up their spare magazines and to turn them down to the office of the Commercial Club, in order that our soldier boys at Fort Lincoln may have some good reading material with which to while away their leisure moments. The Second Battalion is the most intelligent bunch of troopers ever assembled at Fort Lincoln. They are avid readers, and Secretary Goodwin of the Y. M. C. A. has found it an utter impossibility to keep them supplied with good literature.

Secretary Keniston of the Commercial Club has volunteered his assistance and all magazines which reach the club rooms will be promptly delivered at the fort. Any form of good reading matter will be appreciated. Magazines must not be of recent date. A yearly accumulation of standard periodicals will be as much appreciated as one which left the press only yesterday.

Fear House Won't Discuss Prohibition

Senate Passes Bone Dry Amendment Resolution to Constitution

DEMOCRATS DON'T WANT TO PASS ON MEASURE

Washington, D. C., Aug. 2.—A resolution for submitting a federal constitutional amendment for prohibition to states, to be acted on in six years, passed the senate late yesterday. It now goes to the house.

House prohibitionists expressed fear today that owing to the recent decision of the democratic caucus to consider only war legislation at this session that they would be unable to bring the senate's prohibition amendment resolution to a vote. The wets declared that only a personal appeal from President Wilson for house action on the resolution would cause the caucus to reverse itself. This was not expected.

National prohibition by constitutional amendment was hung up in the house today by the prohibition leaders themselves. The resolution to submit the proposal to the states passed yesterday in the senate, was put out of the program for the present session, and will not come up again until the regular session in December.

Plans to reconvene the democratic caucus and reverse its decision to consider only war legislation was abandoned because it was believed delaying action until the next session will help the prohibition cause.

Following is the wording of the proposed amendment to the constitution of the United States:

"The manufacture, sale or transportation of intoxicating liquors within

No Intimation That His Nation Is Willing to Abandon Neutrality

Washington, Aug. 2—Norway, facing starvation if the United States cuts off the exports of food is ready to release a million tons of her shipping in return for the privilege of imports food principally from the United States. Dr. Fridtjof Nansen, head of the Norwegian delegation to the United States, declared today unanimously that Norway faced privation if the United States enforced an embargo against her.

Will Barter Ships

Dr. Nansen did not in any way intimate that Norway would be compelled to abandon her neutrality.

To maintain their place in the world as a seafaring nation, a common carrier of world commerce, and in order to get foodstuffs for themselves and keep their marine-time flag afloat, he said they were willing to barter ships for food.

Plans for taking over for operation all American ocean-going ships soon will be announced by the shipping board. Charter will be requisitioned under a recent act of congress, authorizing the president to commandeer tonnage for government use.

PROHIBIT EXPORTS

Stockholm, Aug. 2—New regulations prohibiting exports were issued by the Swedish government today. They cover a long list of articles, the most important being provisions. The purpose of the new prohibition evidently is to prevent brass, lead, copper, nickel and other base metals leaving the country.

Keniston Expresses Appreciation of City For Regimental Band

Petrograd, Aug. 2.—I am sure I voice the sentiments of every citizen of Bismarck when I express most sincere appreciation for the splendid program to which we have been treated this evening by the first regimental band in the time of our new generation which has been called for actual service on the firing line," said Secretary G. N. Keniston of the Bismarck Commercial Club last evening at the close of the Second regiment band's first concert in the court house square.

The concert was attended by several hundred people, who remained until the last number. The band played with equal ease popular tunes and standard classics, and the program was an enjoyable one from start to finish. The Second regiment band has been playing together not more than two weeks and under the able leadership of Conductor Bachman it has attained a degree of perfection found in very few bands which have been heard here. The city will be favored by open-air concerts in the court house yard every Monday, Wednesday and Saturday evening during the stay of the band in Bismarck. Yesterday afternoon the band serenaded the capitol and the bandmen were received by Governor Frazier.

AMERICANS PLAY PART. British Front in France, Aug. 2.—America played a small, but important part in the battle of Flanders. A number of American surgeons, who were brought to the front from the base hospital, worked side by side with their British allies in caring for the wounded.

Will Barter Ships

British Front in France and Belgium, Aug. 2—"The situation is virtually unchanged."

This sums up the day's news from the wide zone along the western front, where the British and French hurled the Germans back to the supporting defenses at a range of from one to three miles.

Artillery activity continued at remarkable proportions, the British pouring a steady stream of high explosive shells into positions the Germans now hold, but there was little infantry fighting. The allies are now consolidating their positions. Heavy German counter attacks have been looked for, but for a few local attacks, they did not materialize.

Heavy Rain Continues.

Heavy rain that has continued without cessation since last night, is believed to have stopped the work.

The Germans have been carrying on a bombardment, however, against a portion of the north end of the district captured by the English. The fire has been more or less erratic, the storm blocking the work of the observation officers. As usual, the Germans are employing great quantities of gas shells.

Casualties Not Large.

Due to the complete preparation for yesterday's assault the British casualties have not been large, but the condition of the battlefield and statements by German prisoners indicate that the German losses were exceedingly heavy.

More than 4,000 prisoners with 60 to 70 officers were taken by the British in a single salient.

Bavarians and Saxons have given up their number to swell the total captured, and no dejected appearing men have been seen in British stations since the beginning of the war.

Lack Stamina.

Particularly noticeable was the scarcity of non-commissioned officers and the youths from the 1918 class, who are nothing more than raw recruits. One veteran freely expressed his contempt of these youngsters, who, he said, lack stamina.

Many of these prisoners were suffering from internal complaint caused by explosions, and the majority from hunger. Few have hopes of Germany winning the war, and one officer ventured the opinion that the time of the fatherland's downfall was near. He based his opinion largely on the scarcity of men.

AMERICAN SCHOONER SUNK.

London, Aug. 2—The American schooner John Hammond has been sunk by gunfire of German submarines. All the members of the schooner's crew were saved.

TO PROLONG WAR.

London, Aug. 2—Looking from the broadest aspect that the events of the last fortnight in Russia, said Major General Frederick Maurice, chief director of military operations at the war office, in his talk today to the Associated Press, "will necessarily mean a prolongation of the war. We cannot longer count on any great material assistance from Russia. This means a greater burden on the other entente allies, and for the United States it means that she must come into the field as soon as possible and with the greatest possible force."

CLAIM VICTORY

Berlin, Aug. 2.—The battle line in Flanders has advanced forward as the result of successful counter attacks, army headquarters announced today. The hostile attacking forces effected no gains and suffered heavy losses. It is decided.

5799 ELIGIBLES FOR SERVICE TO BE DRAWN

Provisions to Be Made for Rejections Averaging Ten Per Cent—Exemptions

After weeks of preparation, the mills of the draft will slowly begin grinding tomorrow, when the first call for registrants to be examined for selective service will be sent out by the Burleigh county exemption board.

It is believed that Burleigh county will be the first in the state to issue its call. It received its master lists a day earlier than any other county, and its lists of registrants arranged in the order of their liability for service were completed and posted today.

The call for 178 men, 200 per cent of Burleigh's net quota, will go out tomorrow, and the examination of candidates will begin Aug. 8. It is not anticipated that one call will be sufficient. Further calls will be issued by Burleigh county and by all local exemption boards until 110 per cent of their quotas has been filled. In Burleigh county, for instance, the board will not complete its labor on the first draft until 98 men have been accepted, it being estimated that nine of the men accepted by the local board will be allowed exemptions by the district board or rejected when they reach mobilization camp.

To Draw 5,799 Men.

In the state as a whole, while the net quota is 5,272, 10 per cent more than that number of registrants, or 5,799, will be accepted. No county may take credit for its net quota until the men have been finally mustered into the service of the nation at the mobilization camp. Deficiencies resulting from exemptions allowed by the district board or from rejections at mobilization camps must be made up by the local boards.

THE GREAT AMERICAN PUZZLE OF THE YEAR

BREAD!

When Flour Goes Up Bread Goes Up; But When Flour Comes Down Why Won't Bread Drop Too?

Since May 17 flour has risen from $11.50 a barrel to $12.90, a decrease of 3.8%, or 25 cents.

Against this time bread reached its record high mark of $13.70, read price, while now it is down to the country.

And they've stayed boosted.

Query: If a flour rise boosted bread prices why doesn't a flour drop cut bread prices?

WHY?

The average retail price of a pound bread loaf April 1, 1917, with flour at an average of $12.90, was 7.1 cents.

The average price for the same loaf on or about May 15, as a result of the price of flour soaring 25 per cent to $13.70, was 10.3 cents, an increase of 3.2 cents, or 45 per cent.

The average bread price today, when flour sells at $13.70, a drop of over 25 per cent from bread's high mark, is 10.3 cents, a decrease of—nothing at all.

Here's a list of bread prices in 19 scattered cities. It may not help solve the mystery, but it surely proves the mystery is no idle puzzle, but rather a very real and very general problem of daily living.

The present price is in each case the highest price for the year.

On April 1, 1917, the price of the loaf of bread which cost $1.50 in 1915, bread increased—in the spring of 1915. At the outbreak of war in 1914, flour was $5 a barrel, and the price after three or four months went upward by Feb. 3, 1915, had climbed to $8.10.

In most cities there was no protest against slight increases enough to cover the cost of flour to baker. But immediately it settled down again, and bread also dropped.

Then, in 1917, flour once more began to rise. Three more times the bakers laid their hands on the trade. Bread prices were boosted to their present figure, and because the public knew $7.50 didn't necessitate the increase, it acquiesced. Then flour prices dropped for the second time. They have been going down ever since. And ever since the public has been waiting for bread prices likewise to tumble.

They Haven't Tumbled.

And the mystery is all the deeper because, whereas flour on any given day sells at practically the same figure in almost no two cities. In Louisville 8 cents a pound, in Omaha 10 cents, in Memphis 12 cents and in Bridgeport 15 cents.

FARMER AND WIFE IN HOSPITAL AS RESULT OF AUTOMOBILE SPILL

Little Henry Rambled Into Horse and Litter Had Best of Argument

As a result of an automobile accident which occurred on the Red Trail highway about one mile east of the George Bailey farm, Mr. and Mrs. John Bailey are in the Mandan hospital receiving treatment for bruises sustained. The Bailey automobile is in the garage being repaired.

George Ahren was driving home in a buggy and heading a horse behind him. Mr. and Mrs. Bailey and son were in a Ford car driving home from Mandan when a considerable distance ahead the horse was started for Ahren to turn out of the road to give them room to pass. Ahren drove up along side of the road bank, but the horse behind the rig did not get far enough out of the way to give enough room for the auto to pass. The result was that the driver, the Bailey boy, became confused and the auto ran into the horse. The machine turned turtle and Mr. and Mrs. Bailey were thrown out and badly bruised and shaken up. Young Bailey escaped injury. The boy also escaped unharmed.

John Proelien, who has been acting manager for the Western Sales company since M. S. Lang resigned from the company a few months ago, will remain in the employ of the company as salesman and assistant to manager Norton.

BASEBALL SCORES

CAN'T COUNT HIM OUT

HONUS WAGNER HANDS CRITICS A JOLT BY SWATTING AT TERRIFIC RATE

BY PAUL PURMAN

His obituary has been written and re-written.

Time and again he has been counted out.

His batting eye, they said had disappeared. His feet, they mourned, had given way.

But John T. Wagner—Honus—fooled them all.

He is out there on the ball lot every day at first base or third and National league pitchers are learning that the batting eye which was supposed to be gone is almost as bright as in former years.

All of which recalls a statement Clark Griffith once made about batting eyes.

"It isn't the batting eye that counts," Griff opined. "It's just the natural faculty of batting. There was never a pitcher who could fool Lajoie, Cap Anson, Dan Brouthers or Ed Delahanty."

"Speed would stop them nor curves nor anything else a pitcher used. They would hit anything and they might go after a waste ball and hit it out of the lot just the same as they would one in the groove."

The statement was made when Griff was asked his opinion of why a smart ballplayer like George McBride could never learn to hit.

"It isn't natural for McBride to hit and there are many like him, follows like Scott of the Red Sox for instance, it is natural for some of the others."

Then Griff made a startling statement.

"I'll bet if old Cap Anson or Dan Brouthers could get some one to run to first for them they would bat better than .300 in either major league today."

All of which is open to question, of course, but which brings us back to the starting point, John T. Wagner.

Honus is in the middle of his 21st season and he is hitting well above .300, which might be used as an argument for Griff's statement.

Leonard-Kilbane Set New High Fight Cost Record

When Johnny Kilbane and Benny Leonard fought at Philadelphia a few nights ago they received more money for the length of time they were in the ring than any other pair of boxers in the history of the game.

Each of the champions received $1,692 for his end, a total of $2,384 for the bout.

Lasting three rounds the boxers' share per minute was $2500, an unheard of amount.

The greatest purse ever offered two fighters was the $100,000 grab bag hung up for Jeffries and Johnson in 1910. The bout went 15 rounds at the rate of $2211 a minute. This is the only bout in ring history which even approximates the money received per minute by Leonard and Kilbane.

Jeffries and Fitzsimmons received $675 a minute for the 11 round bout at Coney Island in 1899 and Jeff and Corbett divided $632 a minute for their 23 round set-to at Coney the following year.

Boxers' pay per minute in other great bouts include:

Nelson-Britt, 15 rounds, 1905—$51.

Corbett-Fitzsimmons, 14 rounds, 1897—$393.

UNCLE SAM'S 'MONEY WAGON' WELL GUARDED

CONVENIENT LUNCH CABINET FOR MOTORS

MOTORISTS EATING LUNCHEON ON ROADSIDE.

An automobile lunch box, designed and manufactured in Portland, Ore., is intended to be carried on the running board of a car, to which it may be attached by means of two small thumbscrews while traveling. It is shaped like a suitcase. One side lets down to form a picnic table, and the box contains a series of hinged and swinging drawers for food and bottle; also a metal lined box with water drain, and a plate and linen compartment. The materials used in construction of the box are fine wood and veneer; the outside being black enameled and the interior natural finish. Various sizes are made, suitable for from three to eight persons. The largest size is 34 inches long, 19 inches high, and 9 inches deep, the lid making a 15 by 33 inch table.—Popular Mechanics Magazine.

No Doubt About Poison Gas When Tabby Comes Hurrying Back.

REAL WAR DOG WEARS MASK

Norman Lee, American Ambulance Hero, Writes Interesting Letters of Life at the Front—Lucky of Section Seven.

New York—“It’s 2 a. m. I have just returned from a trip and it’s a good time to write. While I attempt this two men are busily engaged in piling up trench torpedoes just outside of the ‘dugout.’ I call it a dugout—in reality it’s only a cellar—but it serves its purpose—keeps the ‘elephants’ from hitting you—of course, a direct hit would be a different thing. The Boches dropped a few gas shells over about midnight. Have you ever heard a rattlesnake? Well, a gas shell has the same effect. No one has to tell you what it is, you know. It just goes ‘pop’ and lets out a greenish vapor. That’s enough down in the dugout—put on your mask and wait until the Boches are finished. But it’s a ghastly scene, one candle burning, and every one sitting around with masks on—the cat hugs the fire while James, the medicine dog, has his mask on, too—it’s a special one—and he knows enough not to paw it off. He’s a real war dog.”

Official “Sniffer” Appointed.

“During these sessions there is always an official ‘sniffer’ appointed, who has to take off his mask, every once in a while, go to the door and see if the stuff is still around. The other day we were in doubt, so we

Burst at the Door.

“Pretty soon it came so near that you could hear pieces hitting the top of the dugout. The last one burst the nearest—right in front of the door. Zowie! ing! patter, patter, bang! They ripped through that blanket like a clown going through a paper ring at a circus. I held my breath and lay still. Fortunately, none of us got hit, but in the morning we picked pieces out of all the walls. The blanket resembled a huge piece of Swiss cheese. The gunners came down in the morning to look us over, and told us the Boches hadn’t succeeded in driving them from their guns for a moment. We all agreed with the brandicardier, who remarked, ‘Sale Boche.’ I might remark that the entrance to our dugout having once been German now faced the wrong way—said entrance being covered by a blanket. Each shot kept coming nearer, and you can’t imagine a weird sound than the whine of bursting shrapnel.

GOVERNMENT MUST STOP FOOD PIRACY

Lack of Distribution First Great Barrier, Says George W. Perkins in Statement

NATION MUST PROVIDE QUICKER TRANSPORTATION

BY IDAH McGLOON GIBSON

New York, Aug. 2.—The ultimate consumer pays the food bills and he ought by this time to understand in getting what he pays for, he is the veriest slacker, said George W. Perkins to me today.

The average man seems to think food naturally gravitates into peoples' mouths. When there is much food, he eats and says nothing; when there is little food he starves and bellows more or less—but what does he do?

Just what congress is going now—takes it out in talking, while the wily food speculator piles up dollars and calls it business. The same old crowd is doing the same old things in Washington they have been doing in Albany for three years, and the people who eat must take this matter in hand or they will go hungry very soon.

"The situation in New York is perhaps more deplorable than in any other city, owing to the isolation of Manhattan and the little attention paid the importance of adequate market facilities.

"When I was asked three years ago to become chairman of the mayor's food committee, I asked my secretary to call up the department of markets for me. After a long wait my secretary came back and said, 'There is no department of markets.'

"Of course, there is," I said impatiently. "New York has departments of light, health, transportation, police, schools, public service, weights and measures, of everything else under the sun—there must be a department of markets, to take care of the most important duty of a city—feeding its people."

"There was not, however, and the first thing the committee tried to do was to put through a law at Albany creating such a department. Did we succeed? We did not."

"The food speculators of New York city chartered a special train and stampeded the legislature."

"Last year, after three long years of hard work, we succeeded in getting our bill through, but how much appropriation we will get to run the department we do not know as yet."

"Five hundred million has been expended for rapid transit in and about New York while practically nothing has been done to get food to the people. The food speculator does not want food to get to the consumer too cheaply."

"It is no uncommon thing for a thousand cars of food to be held up for days on the Jersey flats or above Spuyten Duyvil because of the lack of facilities for unloading and distributing their contents."

"The people must wake up to the need of proper and adequate facilities for getting food to the consumer quickly and easily and in a way that will eliminate those who fatten on the people's direst need."

FROM SCOTLAND TO MASSA. CHUSETTS TO BISMARCK

Nature's own geology saved Mary Pickford a trip to Scotland for her new Aeroplane picture, "The Pride of the Clan," to be seen at the auditorium tonight. On no part of the Atlantic coast is there a more rugged and rocky strip than that at Marblehead, Mass., and it ideally resembles the west coast of Scotland. So this spot was selected for the principal scenes of the new picture in which Mary Pickford will be seen in a new charming and a still more winning personality, as the chief of the MacTavish Clan.

For the French children along the fighting region there are no games except war games. Every childish activity reflects the great struggle of their elders. Here is a group at play with an improvised "75" in the ruins of their once happy village. The children take their war games as seriously as their elders take the grimmer war games which hangs the life of world democracy.

WHITE SLAVERS FACE PRISON ON WIFE'S EVIDENCE

C. H. and Joseph Burts Alleged to Have Brought Women Here for Prostitution

LAUNDRY WORKER PAID FOR PHANTOM FLIVVER

I found over on the evidence of a wife and a sister-in-law to the effect that they were induced to come here by Joseph Burts and his brother, C. H. Burts, to enter a life of prostitution, the two Burts are held in the Burleigh county jail awaiting trial in district court on a charge of accepting the proceeds from prostitution.

The hearing in Justice Blackford's court yesterday followed a raid made Tuesday evening by State's Attorney McCurdy and Chief of Police Martison, who rounded up the Burts quartette, two males and two females, and Julia Adams, employed as a domine in the Burts dormitory on 17th street.

Women Testify.

Yesterday afternoon the Mesdames Burts, former residents of Bismarck, told how they were induced to come here from Minnesota to take up a life on the streets; alleged that their earnings were regularly turned over to Joseph and Hughie Burts, and that the latter had partly completed the shack in which the previous family was living in the east part of town, and to which the finishing touches were being added from the earnings of the women. Negotiations leading up to the present enterprise, the Burts women testified, had been under way for two years.

When the state's attorney and chief of police first appeared at the Burts home, only Julia Adams was there. She did not recognize the visitors as officers of the law, and accosted them after the fashion of the trade. A moment later she was in the city jail. The officers then returned to the dx-MO g-alien—enjoying an unsought joyride, to return to the Burts home, which was in darkness, and through some good sleuthing captured the other offenders.

A Phantom Flivver.

A phantom flivver in which Ida Selenko, local laundry girl, claims to have invested $150, representing years' savings, has landed behind the bars one William Smith, alias Curley Hall, alias Frank Smith, who is said to have prison records in Montana and North Dakota. The charge against Smith is a rather complicated one, the technical complaint being that he has procured unlawful possession of the property of another through fraud or stealth.

Smith, according to the girl's story, seemed to be a mighty fine fellow, and she loaned him $10, which he repaid. Incidentally ascertaining the size of her bank roll. He then suggested that they go into partnership in the purchase of a joy-riding rig. This appealed to her romantic nature, and she produced $100 as her share of the investment.

Later, she claims, Smith told her the blamin' bus wouldn't run without repairs, and she handed him $50 more. All of this time she hadn't been treated to a single joyride in her half of the car. Then came the Dakota Motor Co. fire and the next day Smith woefully informed her that their car had burned in the garage.

The companion has a note signed by Smith for her $150, and the defendant protests he had no intention of defrauding her. He has retained competent counsel and intends to fight the case.

COUNTY BOARD CHANGES LITTLE IN VALUATIONS

Total of 22 Alterations Made in Equalizing Reports of Assessors

Only 22 minor changes were made in the assessors' reports of township valuations by the Burleigh county board of equalization, which has completed its statutory meeting. The most important increase is made in Elkland township, where realty is boosted fifteen percent. Hazel Grove and Steiber townships are boosted ten percent, and Estherville is decreased ten percent.

In Bismarck there are assessed 1086 acres of farm lands at $13.43 the acre, a total of $22,615, the highest average assessed valuation for agricultural lands in the county. The assessor in Bismarck lists 2140 houses and dwelling houses and 1265 barns and granaries. The total assessed valuation on Bismarck unimproved lots is $814.81, on houses and residences, $81,159, on barns and garages, $28,510, a total assessed valuation for the city of $1,719,567, in which the board of equalization makes no change.

In the county there is assessed a total acreage of 9,877,748.88. Burleigh county's land area is about 1,040,000 acres, very little of which, it is shown, is not now embraced in farms or improved property. The average assessed valuation of farm lands is $2.91 the acre, and the total assessed valuation of farm lands is $3,860,784. Houses and residences on farms are assessed at $106,255; barns and granaries, $92,602; unimproved lots at $58,668, houses and residences in villages and towns, $857,424; barns and garages in villages and towns, $26,892, a total assessed valuation for the county of $5,812,736.

The highest assessed real estate values are $6.04 the acre in Lincoln township, and the lowest $2.74 in Sibley Butte township.

CAMERA CATCHES 'PLANE IN DIVE TO RUIN

One of the most unique photo traps ever taken of an airplane is this showing Lawrence Brown's plane crashing in the ground at Atlanta, Ga. Brown had given an exhibition of bomb dropping, blowing to bits a dummy submarine. He was coming down after his performance when sun in his eyes caused him to lose control and crash into electric light wires, throwing the machine nose down to the ground. The machine was smashed but Brown escaped unharmed. The inset shows Brown.

Looks $1600! Costs $1295!!

You can see with half an eye that the new Willys Six is amazing value.

Look at it in comparison with other sixes that cost from $300 to $400 more!

And then dig deeper.

Compare its performance with cars priced around $1600.

You'll like the Willys Six performance better.

That's because the Willys Six strikes a scientifically correct balance between power and weight—a balance that you feel the instant you drive it.

The secret is greater power and sturdy light weight to support it—the Willys Six seems livelier—easier to handle.

And it's a beauty—new, smart, double cowl body with long, racy lines.

Looks and acts like $1600!—costs $1295!!

Look this car over and get the "feel of it"—you, too, will say it is amazing value at $1295.

And it is.
